PORTABLE HUMANOID SIZE REACTIVE TARGET SYSTEM FOR ROOM CLEARING / ACTIVE SHOOTING SIMULATION TRAINING For Law enforcement, security companies and house of worship

The CQB in a Box is a set of 3, portable, life-sized reactive target system designed for tactical entry and dynamic room clearing as well as active shooter simulation training. Versatile enough to be used by an individual or any sized team. The system can be spread out throughout a room or building and can be set up to simulate shoot/no-shoot targets.

The CQB in a Box comes with a set of 3 targets that can be quickly and easily adjusted for various target heights and angles depending on your individual training needs.

Each target comes with 3 reactive hit zones, with focus on head, torso, and pelvic girdle shots. Each hit zone can be made larger or smaller with provided shoot zone cards to test and improve precision and accuracy.

The CQB includes a wireless controller to allow the user to start and stop the drill from afar.

The CQB comes in two different versions:

- Programmable version: The user can wirelessly connect the targets to a windows computer and program each of the targets, building unique drills for any force-on-force situation.
- Preset version: 6 preset programs controlled via wireless controller:
Stand alone with timer / All target on / Green light running between the targets / Green light running is double speed / Two shots on each target to kill it (Double tap) / Shoot - No shoot training with red and green light.

The CQB comes in a specially designed carry case that allows for total mobility between different locations. Designed to be set up in any training rooms, academies or simulated business/urban environments, this system is easy to use and is powered by common AAA batteries (Included).
